Tech Directory Published

June 2, 2010 - The Carroll County Department of Economic Development has published the County's first "Technology Resource Guide", a marketing piece specifically designed for the emerging technology sector.

The guide provides a comprehensive look at the existing technology environment in Carroll County as well as describes local and regional assets and resources beneficial to technology businesses. A representative company list, sorted by sector, is also included.

Larry Twele, Director of Economic Development, commented "By highlighting the programs and resources to support and grow the technology industry, as well as showcasing some of our successful companies, we are proving that the knowledge economy is thriving in Carroll County."

The guide will be shared with resident and prospective technology businesses and developers. It is available in print by request and is available on the department's website.
